

Queen Mary Steaming Grandly Into L.B.

THE QUEEN MARY knifes through Pacific waters off California in final hours at sea. Jet carrying several Long Beach city officials and civic leaders buzzed the great liner Friday, and "bombed" her with California carnations (above). Ship will dock at Pier E about noon today for disembarkation of 1,200 passengers and customs clearance. More than one million persons are expected to line the beaches and bluffs to catch a glimpse of three-block-long liner approaching her final home in Long Beach. For further details, please see Page B-1.

Go See Santa

Q. We want to take our grandchildren to Santa's Village but don't know how to get there. Would you please direct us? Mrs. H. M. Westminster.

A. The Automobile Club of Southern California gave ACTION LINE the following directions to Santa's Village: from Westminster take the Garden Grove Freeway to the Newport Freeway. Take the Newport Freeway to the Riverside Freeway which becomes Route 395 and contin-

No Day in Court

Q. I seem to remember that a few years ago former Gov. George Wallace was cited for contempt of court and then later refused to show up at a hearing. What is the story on this? F. W. S., Long Beach.

A. In 1959, a federal judge dismissed contempt charges against him on the grounds that Wallace, then an attorney, had only "pretended" to defy a court order. Earlier in the year, Wallace, working as a state judge, had refused to turn over voter records to a federal commission, and instead had given them to two grand juries. The federal al court condemned this as a "subterfuge" but said it did not violate the court order. In entirely different circumstances in 1963 Gov. Wallace dodged a subpoena and avoided a federal district court hearing which later issued an injunction forbidding the governor from physically interfering with the enrollment of two Negroes in the University of Alabama. A week later, Gov. Wallace confronted federal officers on the steps of the university's administration building and prevented the Negro students from registering. The following day, June 12, Wallace hacked down and allowed the students to enroll after President John Kennedy federalized the Alabama National Guard. No formal action was taken against the governor in this case.

Boat Beer Bear

Q. I would like to name my boat "Hamm's" and wonder if it is possible to get decals of the Hamm's Beer bear and the word Hamm's to put on the boat? T. M., Hacienda Heights

A. Sorry. The stern of your boat will have to remain bare, says Bob Roberts, assistant sales manager for Hamm's Brewing Co. in Los Angeles. The only decals they have are for the sides of delivery trucks and would be much too large for a boat. Anyway, he says, it is company policy not to make them available to the public. As a special favor, however, Roberts has agreed to send you two

Airliner Crash Kills 66

LIMACUO, Peru (AP) — A Peruvian airliner smashed into a low mountain of the Andes near here Friday and burst into flames, killing all the 66 persons reported aboard. Officials said the total was subject to revision later but there were no survivors.

Four passengers from the United States were reported among the victims.

They were identified as: Joseph Newman, 69, of Las Vegas, Nev.; Evelyn Craig, 47, and Robert and Corina Hauck. No home addresses were available for the latter three.

The four-engine DC6 crashed into the mountain known as Cerro Carpish, near Huacuco, 60 miles northeast of Lima.

Executives of the national Faucett Airlines, said the plane was declared missing at mid-day.

A police patrol reached the crash scene in a remote part of the high Peruvian jungle on the east side of the Andes, and confirmed that there were no survivors.

Police said it was not possible to determine the exact number of deaths until bodies, strewn and burned around the wreckage, could be counted and identified.

FIRE ROUTS 500 FROM DANCE HALL

Fire routed approximately 500 diners and dancers from the Golden West Ballroom in Norwalk Friday, but damage to the huge structure was limited to a second-floor storage room, county firemen said.

Ten units under Battalion Chief Bob Parsons contained the blaze within minutes after a two-alarm call around 8:40 p.m.

The popular ballroom, owned by Olen Thibodeau, is located at 12400 Studebaker Rd. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

HAWAIIAN HONEYMOON

It's Lynda's Big Day

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stage is set for the first White House wedding in 53 years at 4 p.m. today. The bridal party rehearsed Friday, a gay musical evening was arranged and balmy weather was predicted.

Bride-to-be Lynda Bird Johnson, dark-haired, 23-year-old daughter of President and Mrs. Johnson, was ready with all the sentimental traditions, the music, decor and culinary artistry — and the inevitable flutter of excitement.

The tall, handsome bridegroom, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, 28, Milwaukee, was ready with his dress blue uniform and two diamond-studded wedding rings.

"A particular feeling of joy" pervaded the families of the bridal couple and the

The President noted that

"as you might expect, the father of the bride is quite nervous."

Scores of workmen, maids, hairdressers, waiters, flower arrangers, cooks, ushers, aides and musicians and Secret Service men were on duty. Police ordered sidewalks and

STATE WARNING

'Millions Will Burn Schools'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Negro member of the state Board of Education declared Friday that "millions are ready to burn down the schools" if integration is not accomplished.

Speaking before an integration panel at the California School Boards state convention was Dr. Daniel Collins, a San Francisco dentist.

"It's high time to double our school budgets and give Negroes adequate education now, wherever they are," he said.

"If we can't double the budgets, we should reduce the quality of white education and use the money for Negro children."

Harris Sums Up Murders

By SHERM WILLIAMS

Suspended Deputy District Attorney Jack Kirschke premeditated the murders of his wife and her lover last April 8, then, after committing them, couldn't brace himself to go back into the canal-side duplex in which the bodies lay undiscovered, the prosecution charged Friday.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris, in the first of four days of final arguments in the marathon trial, called Kirschke a liar who had the motive, opportunity and means to kill Elaine Terry Kirschke and pilot Bill Drankhan as they embraced on his bed.

"Who else in the world" could have done it, he asked of the six-man and six-woman jury.

Harris demanded a first-degree murder conviction for each of the deaths, but said the jury also would be asked to consider murder in the second degree — which does not provide for a death sentence.

HARRIS portrayed Kirschke as a man experienced in homicide cases, who made one mistake in setting up his alibi for the murders. Kirschke, he said, didn't know ballistics tests had been run on bullets fired seven years ago from a pistol he later acquired after a criminal case.

Harris, who said the prosecution didn't learn about the tests either, until October when the trial was well under way, said Kirschke, assumed no one would be able to find the death weapon.

"HE KNEW this as an experienced prosecutor," Harris told the jury, "un-

NAVY SAVING 34,000 Men to Get Early Discharge

WASHINGTON (AP) —

The Navy announced Friday it will discharge about 34,000 enlisted men about one or two months before their normal hitch expires.

Sources said about $18.3 million will be saved. The Pentagon is trying to cut spending and avoid a big supplemental money request to Congress early next year.

The early releases will begin this month and extend into February. The Navy said enlisted men due to be discharged in January and February will be released by Dec. 18, a week before Christmas. These men scheduled for discharge next March or April will be released two months early, in January and February respectively.

The early release program does not apply to men serving in Vietnam, aboard the 7th Fleet in waters off Vietnam and Asia, or in the 6th Fleet which roams the Mediterranean.

Also excluded were men in 15 special skill ratings which are in short supply in the Navy.

The Navy said the early discharges will have no effect on the Navy's reaching its planned strength of about 762,000 by June 30. The Navy is about 15,000 below that total.

Since the affected Navy enlisted men would have been out of the service by April in any case, their early discharge would have no impact on strength levels at the end of the fiscal year. These levels will be achieved through voluntary enlistments.

F104 Crash Kills 1st Negro Astronaut

MAJ. ROBERT LAWRENCE
Crashes at Edwards AFB

Combined News Services
Air Force Maj. Robert H. Lawrence Jr., 31, the first Negro U.S. astronaut, was killed Friday when his F104 crashed on a runway in landing at Edwards Air Force Base.

The crash occurred "during a proficiency training flight." There was "a little fire," a spokesman said, but neither of two men on the plane was burned.

The second pilot in the craft, Air Force Maj. Harvey J. Royer, 36, was injured. Royer is chief of operations for the Air Force's Aerospace Research Pilot School.

Lawrence, of Chicago, was selected "astronaut designee" in June and was to have participated in the Air Force's Manned Orbiting Laboratory Program known as MOL. Lawrence leaves his widow, Barbara, and an 8-year-old son, Tracey.

The Air Force picked Lawrence with 15 others for its MOL program and announced in June that two would be aboard a craft in 1970 headed for an orbiting laboratory. Lawrence at 31 was the youngest of the last four to be picked and the only one with a doctor of philosophy degree.

The program calls for two men in a Gemini B attached to a Titan III C booster to lift off from Vandenberg Air Force Base, enter through a heat shield for a 30-day stay without the use of space suits.

Lawrence served in West

German as an instructor of German pilot trainees and was a senior pilot with more than 2,500 flying hours.

Lawrence is the ninth American spaceman to die. Others were Theodore Freeman, in a T38 in 1964; Charles Bassett and Elliot See in a T38 in 1966; Virgil (Gus) Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee, in a flash fire in their spacecraft last January; Edward G. Givens last June 6 in his compact car, and C. C. Williams last Oct. 5 in a T-38.

'HAREM' SUES

Three women employees of a Lake Charles, La., city judge have taken Mayor Jim Sudduth to court, asking $150,000 in damages because, they said in a slander suit, Sudduth referred to them as a "harem."

Mrs. Ruby Farris, Mrs. Edna Short and Mrs. Peter Theros, all employees in the office of City Judge Murray Anderson, claim the mayor slandered their character at a City Council meeting on Oct. 27, 1966.

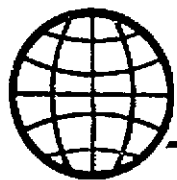

The remark, according to the suit, was to the effect that "the city judge could have a harem if he wanted to, but the city would not pay their salaries."

S. Viets Wipe Out 2 Red Battalions

Combined News Services

SAIGON — South Vietnamese forces trapped two Viet Cong battalions deep in the Mekong Delta Friday and killed 365 of the enemy in the biggest battle this year in the canal-laced delta, government headquarters reported today. After the South Vietnamese forged a ring of men and armored columns around the Viet Cong, U.S. fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery pounded enemy positions. The 365 enemy were reported killed in savage fighting in Chuong Thien Province, at the southern tip of South Vietnam 102 miles southwest of Saigon. South Vietnamese infantrymen and rangers lost 67 men dead and 102 wounded.

It was the second major battle in the delta this week. On Monday, a task force of U.S. 9th Division infantrymen and South Vietnamese marines reported killing 235 Viet Cong troops in an 11-hour battle. There were no American ground forces involved in the battle, except for U.S. advisers with the three South Vietnamese infantry battalions and three ranger battalions. But the U.S. threw massive air support behind the more than 2,000 South Vietnamese ground troops. Targets in the northern part of the Demilitarized Zone that divides Vietnam were hit twice — Friday afternoon and this morning — by B52s in raids aimed at keeping down North Vietnamese fire on Marine forward bases. Over North Vietnam, AF105 Thunderchiefs hit the Kim Lang army barracks 42 miles west of Hanoi. (Related stories, Page A-5).

Russ Demand West Berlin

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union insisted today that West Germany renounce its claims to West Berlin and the eastern territories yielded after World War II. Western observers here said that those and other stiff demands seemed to snuff out Bonn's hopes for an early agreement on the division of Germany. Russia also protested sharply what it called a dangerous growth of Neo-Nazi activity in West Germany. The 10-page statement, delivered to diplomats of West Germany, the U.S., Britain and France, demanded "resolute steps" to prevent revival of German Nazism.

Greek Troops Leave Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus — A contingent of 400 Greek army soldiers sailed for Athens today — the first troops to quit Cyprus under the terms of the agreement worked out between Greece and Turkey to resolve their recent crisis. The soldiers left just as the first of 500 dependents of American personnel stationed in Cyprus returned to the island after an enforced three-week vacation in Beirut. Under a recent Greek-Turkish accord that averted war, Greece must remove all but 950 of its soldiers within 45 days. The 950 are allowed on the island along with 650 Turkish soldiers.

Pilot Strike Cripples BOAC

LONDON — More than 1,000 pilots of the state-run British Overseas Airways Corp. went on a 48-hour strike at midnight Friday after two days of talks ended in deadlock. The flight stoppage will be limited to planes leaving London over the weekend for such points as New York. BOAC has threatened to take striking pilots off the payroll and close down the airline indefinitely if the strike goes on. The pilots have asked salary increases that would almost double the present $14,112 annual salary of a senior jet skipper.

National

$2.7 Billion in Raises Voted for Servicemen

WASHINGTON — A $2.7-billion pay raise for the nation's 3.5 million servicemen cleared both a House-Senate conference committee and the Senate itself Friday as Congress rushed toward adjournment. The compromise bill provides pay raises ranging from $5.10 a month for buck privates to $123.60 monthly for the Joint Chiefs, retroactive to Oct. 1. The House was ready to approve the bill early next week, in time to give pre-Christmas bonuses totaling $135 million to soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines.

The Senate, acting in less than five minutes, approved the measure by voice vote with no debate. The military pay agreement came one day after conference approval of a bill raising the pay of about two million postal and white collar government workers, also effective Oct. 1. Under the military pay measure, every serviceman would get a 5.6 per cent increase in basic pay this year and additional hikes in 1968 and 1969. The bill calls for corresponding boosts in military pay when federal white collar workers get a raise. The civilian pay bill gives white collar federal workers a 4.5 per cent raise and postal workers a 6 per cent raise this year.

MEDICARE PREMIUMS TO RISE IN APRIL

WASHINGTON — Americans enrolled in the Medicare program covering doctor bills will start paying $1 a month more in insurance premiums for the coverage in April. Secretary John W. Gardner of the Health, Education and Welfare Department will announce the increase formally before Dec. 31. The present premium of $3 a month is matched by the government. Both the enrollee's and government's share will advance a dollar a month with the April increase. Meanwhile, legislative leaders moved swiftly Friday to wrap up a huge Social Security benefit-and-tax-increase bill for President Johnson's signature. For the 24 million Americans already drawing Social Security, the bill now assured of passage means benefit increases on this order: The minimum now $44 a month, will go to $55 a month beginning with March 1968 checks. The maximum, now $142, would go to $160.50. When the retired workers wife reaches 85, 50 per cent of these sums are added.

Senate Votes Poverty Funds

WASHINGTON — The Senate approved a compromise bill Friday authorizing $4.16 billion for a two-year extension of the war on poverty that gives control of antipoverty programs to local elected officials. The measure, the result of a conference committee to reconcile differences between House and Senate measures, goes to the House Monday for final congressional action before being sent to President Johnson. The measure authorizes $1.98 billion for the office of Economic Opportunity for the current fiscal year and $2.18 billion for the next fiscal year, and gives local officials control over community action programs which had been run directly by OEO.

Snow Falls on Rockies, Maine

DENVER — Snow swept the central Rockies Friday, slicking highways and leaving mountain passes snowpacked but open today. Snow also fell in northern New England as a slow-moving storm center moved across the northeastern states. Showers dampened the southeast. In the East, 2 inches of snow fell at Millinocket, Me., boosting the amount on the ground there to 5 inches.

FTC Attacks Ads on Rentals

WASHINGTON — The FTC issued complaints this weekend against the operators of nine apartment developments in nearby suburban Virginia, charging them with illegally failing to disclose in their advertisements that they rent only to white persons. It marked the first time the U.S. had attacked housing segregation by attempting to police real estate advertising.

Picketing Ends at GM Plants

VAN NUYS—Picket lines were set up by United Auto Workers in front of two General Motors assembly plants in Van Nuys and were removed hours later Friday. The workers were expected back on the job Monday. The dispute resulted from a disciplinary lay-off by the firm of a foreman late to his work area. Meanwhile in Detroit, bargainiers for the company and the UAW met behind closed doors, trying to write a national contract covering 380,000 union-represented employees. Walkouts Friday also idled plants at Atlanta, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Curb on Lottery Tickets

WASHINGTON — The Senate approved Friday a compromise bill to prohibit federally insured banks and savings and loan associations from selling lottery tickets directly to the public. It was sent by voice vote to the House, where final congressional approval is expected next week. Banks are a major outlet for sales of tickets in the New York state lottery.

Price Rollback by Steel Firm

PITTSBURGH — Armco Steel Corp. rolled back Friday a $5-a-ton increase posted earlier on hot rolled sheets — used in auto and household manufacturing, but let stand two other price hikes. Only Armco and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. had gone up on hot rolled sheets in the flurry of steel price increases in the last seven days that had spread to all major producers. Armco, the nation's sixth biggest steelmaker, said it ordered the hot rolled cutback to meet competition. It held firm on a $5-a-ton hike on cold rolled sheets and $4 a ton on galvanized sheets. (Story on how other prices will climb, Page A-5).

Pill to Halt GI's Malaria

KANSAS CITY — The leader of a government-supported research team at General Hospital reported Friday the team has developed a one-pill cure for a type of malaria which has felled thousands of U.S. troops in Vietnam. Dr. John Arnold said in a copyrighted story in The Kansas City Star that the new drug has proved effective against the stubborn falciparum malaria against which other medicines have proved ineffective. Tested on volunteers at the Jackson County jail here, the drug cured 10 of 11 malaria patients with a single dose. Dr. Arnold predicted the new pill will enable stricken soldiers to return to duty within two or three days instead of the present two weeks.

LBJ THREAT

A federal grand jury at San Diego has indicted a Camp Pendleton Marine on charges of making a threat on President Johnson's life during the chief executive's visit to military bases in the area Nov. 10, it was revealed Friday. The defendant is Albert R. Roy Jr., 18, Buchanan, N.Y. Officials said a man, later identified as Roy, made a telephone call from a pay phone Nov. 9 to the operator saying she had better tell the President to stay off the base or he would be killed.

KENNAN POST

Historian and diplomat George F. Kennan has been chosen president of the American Academy of Arts and Letters. Kennan, a member of the staff of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N.J., has been president since 1965 of the academy's parent body, the National Institute of Arts and Letters. He will succeed historian Allan Nevins, who retires after two years as head of the academy.

K. W. JOHNSON

SINGING, SUES

A New Yorker who told police he is a professional gospel singer was arrested at New Orleans International Airport Friday with a baby-blue Bible in one hand and a suitcase containing $100,000 worth of heroin in the other.

Jefferson Parish narcotics agents said it was their largest single haul of narcotics. Arrested as he left the baggage counter at the airport was Kenner William Johnson, 27. Police said Johnson's suitcase contained uncut heroin worth $50,000, and 5,000 small paper containers of the drug worth $10 each.

Officers said he also was carrying a loaded .25 caliber pistol.

HE'S PLEASED

Gov. George Romney of Michigan said after his first full day of talks with French officials in Paris Friday he was "extremely pleased." Romney, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, arrived Thursday night on a tour of European capitals to discuss mutual problems with officials and private citizens. He met Friday morning with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville; Jean Lacanuet, leader of the Center Democrats and independent Gaullist Valery Giscard d'Estaing.

RECK BRIDE

Dave Beck, 74-year-old former head of the world's largest labor union, is planning to be married for a second time, the Seattle Times reported Friday. Beck, a widower, will marry Miss Helen L. Reynolds of Seattle. Beck headed the Teamsters Union prior to 1957.

RED ARRESTED

Gilbert Green, New York state chairman of the Communist Party, U.S.A., and Timothy Wheeler, a writer for the Worker, the American Communist Party newspaper, were among the 139 persons arrested late Friday in New York's anti-draft demonstration. They face court hearings Jan. 10. The four-day total of arrests was 581. (Picture, Page A-5)

In Washington, officials of George Washington University barred military recruiters from its campus until draft chief Lewis B. Hershey's directive calling for induction of antiwar demonstrators is withdrawn.

LIBEL SUIT

Blind singer Ray Charles Blind filed a $6-million libel suit over a magazine article which said he bribed police officers in connection with a "dope habit." The complaint asks $2.5 million general and $3.5 million punitive damages from Johnson Publishing Co., which publishes Jet magazine.

The petition said Charles was "well known as a member of a minority group who had overcome the problems of blindness, orphanhood, poverty and dope addiction to become one of the most respected and honored singers, musicians, composers and hand-leaders of our time."

CAA SHIFT

Charles S. Murphy, the innovative chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, has submitted his resignation in order to work directly for President Johnson's re-election, the New York Times Service said Friday. Murphy has asked to leave the important airline regulatory post as of Dec. 31.

1ST WOMAN

Muriel F. Siebert, a selling analyst on Wall Street reputed to earn half a million dollars a year, stands ready to become the first woman member in the 175-year history of the New York Stock Exchange. The New York Times said today that Miss Siebert, now a partner with the brokerage firm of Brimberg & Co., has signed a conditional sales contract to purchase a seat for $445,000. Before she becomes a member, Miss Siebert must appear before a committee and obtain final approval from the board of governors.

JET TERMINAL

Industrialist Howard Hughes wants to build a supersonic jet transport terminal for southern Nevada in exchange for McCarran Airport, if such a project is feasible.

A letter from the Hughes Tool Co., described as a "letter of intent," will be presented to the Clark County Commission at Las Vegas Monday, it was learned.

Solons Break for Yule; '68 Battle Eyed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California legislators ended the longest year of lawmaking in state history Friday and headed home for Christmas. They are due back in one month for an election-year session shaping up as a test between Republican Gov. Reagan and Democrats.

The final day of the five-week special session found legislators sending the governor a medical care compromise far from what he wanted, but also delivering the bill he demanded to prevent a loss of up to $5 million in anticipated personal income taxes.

Legislators, who were in session at one point or another in every month except October in 1967, were content just to shake hands and disperse homeward as fast as possible.

OBSERVERS, however, immediately looked ahead to 1968 — a year in which a Legislature narrowly divided between Democrats and Republicans will find itself confronted with Reagan's comprehensive plans to implement his "Creative Society" in the nation's most populous state.

It also is the year in which presidential politics will be uppermost on the electorate's mind and nationwide attention will focus on Sacramento as Reagan — generally mentioned among the top five possible GOP White House nominees — strives to fully enact his campaign pledges of 1966.

Developments at the special session indicated, however, that Democratic forces led by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh and young Senate Democratic Leader George Moscone intend to play a tougher role than they did in the first year of the Reagan administration.

The session was called by Reagan after the State Supreme Court ruled the 38 California seats in the U.S. House of Representatives didn't meet the equal-population test, and said it would assume jurisdiction if the Legislature didn't redraw the districts by Dec. 7.

Lawmakers did act, and the new reapportionment — designed to keep incumbent congressmen of both parties in office — was signed into law.

THE LAST day of the special session was most productive. The Legislature:

— Asked Reagan to grant a two-month moratorium on any cuts in the state's massive Medi-Cal program which furnishes treatment to 1.2 million Californians. Reagan agreed to comply.

— Passed the administration-sponsored bill by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, closing a loophole in the 1967 tax bill which could have cost the state $50 million needed to balance Reagan's $5 billion budget.

— Voted to ask the administration to restore cuts in 100 categories of the state-county crippled children program, trimmed in mid-September to keep within the Legislature's appropriation.

Congratulations?

Q. Recently I received a letter from "Outstanding Personalities of the West and Midwest, Inc." in Raleigh, N.C., congratulating me on my election to appear in the 1967-68 edition. What is this publication? Is it honorary or just a money-making scheme? J. W. E., Long Beach.

A. The book will be published for the first time next year by the News Publishing Company of Raleigh, N.C., and will hopefully sustain itself by becoming a recognized reference work, says Mrs. Janet Vickers, secretary to the board of directors. She says the company asks a city's business community, civic groups and colleges to nominate men in professional fields considered "outstanding" by their peers. "There is no obligation to buy the book, nor do we let our name lists be used for things like mailing lists," Mrs. Vickers says. Anyone who is included in the book—about 5,000 names from 23 states—can use it as an honorary reference, she explains. The publishing company is not a non-profit organization, she adds.

Czechmate

Q. Where can I find any Czechoslovakian or Bohemian clubs or restaurants in this area? D. M., Long Beach.

A. ACTION LINE checked with several sources, including Czech, but could not locate any clubs or restaurants in Long Beach. Antes Restaurant, 356 W. 5th St., San Pedro, serves Yugoslavian food, much of which is similar to Czechoslovakian dishes. In Los Angeles, Sokol Hall, 500 N. Western Ave., is an American-Czechoslovakian organization. You must come from Czechoslovakia or have one member of your family who was born there to be eligible for membership. Members may take part in dances, shows, physical fitness programs and other activities. The Western Bohemian Fraternal Assn. also meets at Sokol Hall the last Sunday of every month. Guacamole Recipe

Q. I have some avocado seeds just lying around, and I'd like to plant them. What kind of soil is best, and when should they be planted? Mrs. E. K., Bellflower.

A. It would be best to wait until early next spring to plant your avocado seeds, according to reference sources at the Long Beach Public Library. A rich, sandy loam or a clay loam is best, and don't plant them too deep. Good drainage is important for the young plant, which should yield two 40-lb crates of fruit when it matures. The avocado tree is native on the American West Coast throughout California and as far south as Colombia.

Kirschke Prosecutor Sums Up

less you can find the gun there is no way you can prove it was that particular gun which fired the shots.

"He knew that if the gun was concealed, it couldn't be found."

Because of that, Harris said, Kirschke told investigators who questioned him after his arrest last April that he owned two pistols, one of them a .38 caliber weapon. Drankhan and Mrs. Kirschke were killed by .38 caliber slugs.

"He had nothing to worry about, he thought," Harris told the jury "because he had no idea of the test bullets."

"It was a serious mistake and a bad mistake."

HARRIS then hammered on premeditation, saying the killer would have had to enter the Kirschke apartment, "rummage through drawers" to find the pistol, then lie in wait for a chance to kill the couple.

"Jack Kirschke was the only person who knew about that gun," Harris said.

Harris attacked Kirschke for "laughing and joking" on the trip back to Long Beach after his arrest in Victorville, and accused the former prosecutor of being "absolutely devoid of any kind of concern about Elaine Kirschke."

Harris charged the defense with failing to establish an iron-clad alibi for Kirschke and said the former prosecutor could have been at International Airport at 11 p.m., murdered Drankhan and Mrs. Kirschke in Naples at any time up to 4 a.m., and still arrive in Las Vegas at 8 a.m.

DEMANDING, "Where was Kirschke" in Las Vegas, Harris said the former prosecutor brooded in the casino city two days, then, when he read no news reports about discovery of the bodies phoned Downey and left a message for his secretary to call his wife that evening.

Harris said Kirschke wanted the secretary to make the call because, had he called himself, "he knew he wasn't going to get an answer."

"He wanted those bodies discovered," Harris said. "He didn't want to walk in that door and find those two dead people," he said.

When the trial resumes Monday, defense attorney Albert C. S. Ramsey is scheduled to begin two days of final arguments followed on Wednesday by Harris' final day of argument. On that schedule, the case could go to the jury Thursday.

SF Students, Teachers Rally 'Round Summerskill

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco State College students and faculty members rallied to the support of embattled President John Summerskill Friday on the eve of legislative investigations into mob violence at the college.

The California Teachers Association, AFL-CIO, opposed any firing of Summerskill.

Meanwhile, John Gerassi, an instructor who led student rioters Wednesday, was suspended pending a hearing.

Summerskill was backed by 800 members of the Academic Senate, which overwhelmingly approved a resolution that said he "avoided what could have been a tragically violent situation."

An ad hoc committee circulated a petition supporting Summerskill, who refused to call in police during the riot. The committee had collected 5,336 signatures by nightfall. Another group collected funds to pay for damage to the college bookstore and cafeteria. At least $400 was collected.

IN LOS ANGELES, Jack I. Rees, executive secretary of the 160,000-member CTA, said Summerskill could be fired for the same reason — "political manipulation" — that ousted University of California President Clark Kerr.

"No one should be summarily fired," declared Rees as the CTA's 450-member State Council of Education opened a two-day meeting at the Ambassador Hotel.

The bearded Gerassi, a writer for such new left publications as Ramparts magazine, was suspended pending a hearing by a hiring committee of the International Relations Department.

Plainclothes investigators sought witnesses among the 18,000 students Friday. They want them to testify before a special legislative inquiry.

Summerskill defended his action and said he will not resign.

TWIN INVESTIGATIONS were scheduled to begin Saturday into the violent student outburst triggered by militant members of the Black Students Union and activists unhappy over a campus ban on a controversial underground newspaper.

Agents of the Assembly Education Committee were armed with subpoena power to order reluctant witnesses to appear before the committee when it meets Saturday in the state building at San Francisco.

At the same time, the state college board of trustees will meet at Los Angeles in emergency session and will probably discuss the firing of Summerskill.

Gov. Ronald Reagan cancelled a scheduled appearance in Columbus, Ohio, to attend the Los Angeles meeting. He indicated he will press for guidelines mandating strong action, using local police where necessary, to quell campus uprisings.

Although the sprawling San Francisco campus was quiet Friday, rumors spread rapidly that Black Student Union officials were threatening to bring "black panthers" on campus to stir up further trouble.

Contract negotiations between Dow Chemical Co.'s Torrance plant and the International Chemical Workers came to an "absolute standstill" Friday, a union official reported.

Oren Smith, president of local 598 of the AFL-CIO, said resumption of the talks will not be resumed at this time.

Smith declined to comment on whether the stalemate in the bargaining session meant the chemical workers would walk off their jobs.

The old contract with Dow expired last Nov. 20 and union members have been working without a pact since then.

Smith said the union had taken a vote, in which members approved a strike. But the walkout never came about, reportedly because the union feared mounting antiwar protests against the chemical company might make it look as if the employees were aligning themselves with demonstrators.

Dow's Torrance plant manufactures the jelly petroleum used in napalm bombs.

ARRESTS LOOM Militancy Row Grows at CSLA

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Students cheered and honed Friday as speakers at a California State College at Los Angeles rally urged greater militancy on campus. Simultaneously, the college's Academic Senate distributed a resolution condemning violence.

It all happened as the college reacted to Wednesday's rioting of Dow Chemical Co. recruiters from the campus. About 500 students — both favoring and opposing militancy — attended Friday's rally called by the Students for a Democratic Society.

Black Student Union speakers exhorted students to expand their placement center demonstrations to firms dealing with the apartheid governments of South Africa.

Friday the executive committee of the CSLA Academic Senate unanimously passed a resolution deploring the incident Wednesday: "We must act swiftly to prevent a similar incident from occurring. All identifiable participants in the violence and threats must be dealt with severely and quickly."

As Friday's rally progressed, college representatives met with a deputy district attorney to prepare arrest warrants for 25 persons in Wednesday's demonstration. A college official said the faculty disciplinary committee will review the participation of "a

Archerd's Pal Died of Insulin, Doctor Says

By MARY NEISWENDER

Suspected insulin killer William Dale Archerd's "good friend" Fontana businessman William Edward Jones Jr. died of "an excessive amount of insulin," his private physician testified Friday, as the trial of the 55-year-old former medical attendant ended its first week in Los Angeles Superior Court.

Dr. Alvin Sanborn, medical director of Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Fontana and medical director of the Kaiser-Permanent Health Group, told Judge Adolph Alexander, sitting as judge and jury in the bizarre case, that Jones death was "due to hypoglycemia."

"It was due to an excessive amount of insulin... which did not come from within the body."

THE SOFT-SPOKEN medical man, who initially listed the cause of death in 1947, as "undetermined," made his current diagnosis "from the records and the facts as they were at the time."

Archerd is not charged officially with Jones death, but the state contends the death — and that of two others who died outside of Los Angeles County — are being detailed to show Archerd's "pattern of murder."

handful of instructors" in Wednesday's events.

Also Friday, Dow, which manufactures napalm for use in the Vietnam war, rejected an invitation from CSLA President John Greenlee to send its recruiter back to the campus for more job interviews.

Jones, the state charges, was Archerd's first insulin victim.

The physician testified he treated his patient for hypoglycemia but apparently it was too late.

SANBORN SAID that he detected hypoglycemia (a low blood sugar condition) and he immediately treated his patient with infusions of glucose.

"There was no response. We corrected the hypoglycemia, but there was other damage," the doctor testified. "We believe there already had been permanent brain damage. He was then in an irreversible state of hypoglycemia."

The 55-year-old Archerd is on trial for the deaths of two of his seven wives and a 15-year-old nephew.

FIRST COMMENT ON HOME TURMOIL

Racial War Bigger Than Viet War, Says Nixon

By STANLEY JOHNSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon asserted Friday that the "war-in-making" between black and white in the United States was more important than the war in Vietnam and if it is not solved "it will not matter what happens in Vietnam."

"The war in Asia," he said at a dinner meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, "is a limited one with limited means and limited goals. The war at home is a war for survival of a free society. Anything less than total mobilization of our resources would risk defeat."

Nixon called the situation "equally tragic and more complex" than the Civil War and urged the whole country to "think anew and act anew."

The former vice president has been considered a "hawk" on Vietnam, but this was the first time since he became an active, but unavowed, seeker of the Republican presidential nomination for 1968 that he has spoken out about the racial problem.

Few, if any, political observers had expected to hear Nixon refer to it as more important than the conflict in Southeast Asia. Nixon, however, said that extreme urgency existed because "violence in our cities takes on more of the aspects of guerrilla war."

GOV. ROCKEFELLER

Ike Cheers Rifts Among Democrats

By RAYMOND LAHR

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower led Republican leaders Friday in cheering Democratic Party rifts which they hope will help elect Republican candidates next year.

Eisenhower addressed a luncheon session of the Republican governors association by telephone from his winter retreat in Palm Springs, Calif., and said the Democrats were "doing worse all the time." Democratic squabbling, he said, was "compounding their errors."

"They are so engaged in fighting each other that it is impossible for them to get America moving again," as they so often put it," he said.

HE ADDED THAT these quarrels in President Johnson's party were causing "deeper confusion, disastrous debt and stagnated leadership for the country."

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen and Sen. George Murphy of Calif., chairman of the Senate Republican campaign committee, also gave pep talks at the governors' luncheon.

"I've never seen the opposition in such pleasant disarray," Murphy said.

Dirksen warned the governors against falling into disunity and said it was "so easy to pull apart and move in several directions at once" when Republicans could agree on many major issues.

Earlier, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California welcomed the entry of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota into the California Democratic presidential primary as a challenger to the Johnson administration.

"ANYTHING THAT divides the opposition, I'm for," said Reagan.

Officially the governors were talking at their closed business sessions about 1968 plans and their role in the political campaign next year. Discussion of presidential candidates was only unofficial, and there was no indication the governors were drawing together behind one candidate. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York continued to beat the drums for Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who is missing this two-day meeting for a fact-finding trip abroad. He viewed Romney as the Richard M. Nixon in the New Hampshire presidential primary March 12.

Governor Conference Chairman 'Neutral'

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee promised his colleagues Friday he will act with strict political neutrality as chairman of the Republican Governors Association, and Florida Gov. Claude Kirk dropped a short-lived challenge to his leadership.

Kirk went to a closed-door session of the GOP governors complaining that Chafee had sacrificed his neutrality and therefore his claim on the chairmanship by endorsing Michigan Gov. George Romney for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller Hints Draft Acceptance

New York Times Service

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York refused Friday to rule out the possibility that he would accept a draft for the Republican nomination for president next year. He said he did not believe that the Republican national convention would turn to him in 1968, but "if it actually did happen, I'd have to face it." He has not faced that question yet, he explained, "because I don't think it's a reality."

In the past, Rockefeller has declined to answer questions about being drafted, maintaining that he is not a presidential candidate and is not going to become one. The governor's statements Friday, which appeared to increase his availability for the nomination, were made in a series of interviews in Palm Beach where the Republican governors association is meeting. This mild encouragement for Rockefeller backers comes at a time when the governors are becoming increasingly resigned to the prospect that Richard M. Nixon will win the presidential nomination.

He called instigators of city rioting "guerrilla leaders in the classic pattern. The violent few do not speak for the Negroes, but they are speaking to them every day, planting the seeds of hatred."

"Not since the Civil War," he told the nation's business leaders assembled at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, "has our nation been so divided, our citizens so apprehensive toward one another."

If this division continues, he said, "the foundation on which we are trying to build a better future will crumble. I believe this foundation is in grave danger."

"The ultimate testing place," he repeated, is not Vietnam but "America itself. All of our power and prestige and ability to keep the promises that keep the peace — everything we stand for and dream of — rest in the end on the unity and strength of America."

Nixon noted that "even as American troops attempt to pacify hamlets in Vietnam, special Army teams are now touring scores of our cities, making contingency plans for their pacification next summer."

He said that previously the United States has reacted to rioting with "shock and surprise."

"But now," he added, "we expect the terrible drama to be repeated, and we train and deploy troops as though girding for war. I use the word 'war' advisedly. A riot is a spontaneous outburst. A war is subject to advance planning."

Nixon said one of the chief reasons for violence in the cities was that "extravagant promises have been made to the Negro."

Worse than making a promise is making a promise that cannot be kept." This, he claimed, is a great cause of Negro bitterness.

But, he added, "There is no cause which justifies resort to violence or lawlessness."

What is needed now,

McCarthy Rips LBJ on Dissent

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, campaigning for the Democratic nomination for president, accused the Johnson administration Friday night of trying to "still dissent" and said the Vietnam war issue must be taken to the people.

"This is not the time for the stifling of dissent or for a response to the deceptive calls for unity," the Minnesota senator said in remarks prepared for a meeting of Minnesota "Concerned Democrats."

McCarthy said the Vietnam war issue "must be taken to the people to let them make a determination as to what commitment they wish the United States to make and as to the ways in which the commitment should be carried out."

McCarthy carried his campaign into his home state of Minnesota after telling a cheering crowd at the University of Wisconsin in Madison he was running for president "to give anybody a chance to make a moral judgment on the war."

The senator was followed here by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, another Minnesotan, who is scheduled to speak before the Democratic Farmer Labor State Central Committee Saturday.

McCarthy, who plans to oppose President Johnson in the April 2 Wisconsin primary and several other presidential primaries, criticized the Johnson-Humphrey administration sharply.

"At no time in the 20 years I have been active in our party have our national officers and cabinet members cried for unity and denounced dissent in anticipation of either conventions or primaries," he said.

"IN RECENT MONTHS the postmaster general has been making speeches asking for party unity while the postal service deteriorates."

"The secretary of agriculture has been denouncing protest while the parity index of farm prices has been declining."

"The secretary of labor has complained about the way in which the press treats the administration ... while the copper strikes goes into its fifth month and the continuing threat of an automobile strike hangs over the nation."

"The secretary of state calls for an end of criticism while refusing to appear in public hearings before the Senate foreign relations committee of his own party."

"For the first time in 20 years, the secretary of the treasury ... has been unable to get the Congress to respond to a request for a major tax change."

Fulbright Raps LBJ on Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright lashed out at the administration again Friday for pursuing an "immoral and unnecessary war" in Vietnam and scoffed at President Johnson's avowed restraint in handling dissenters.

"I am not the slightest bit grateful to the administration for my freedom of speech," the Arkansas Democrat said sarcastically as a new round of Vietnam debate erupted on the Senate floor.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was challenged in advance by Sen.

Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., to say where he would draw the line against Communist expansion.

Dodd argued against abandoning "a right moral cause simply because the cost of defending it runs high." He added: "Let us not seek an easy way out, because there is no easy way out."

But Fulbright retorted that all the United States is demonstrating in Vietnam is its "willingness and ability to use its B52s, its napalm and all the other ingenious weapons of 'counterinsurgency' to turn a small country into a charnel house."

Even if the war is won, he said, "we would still have little to be proud of and a great deal to regret."

"We would still have fought an immoral and unnecessary war. We would still have passed up opportunities which, if taken when they arose, would have spared us and the Vietnamese the present ordeal."

There is a feeling, Fulbright said, that "America has betrayed its own past and its own promise. We are in this respect a disappointment to the world ... a disappointment to ourselves."

He called for "an honest and sustained effort to make a compromise peace through a new Geneva conference, or through direct discussions between the Saigon government and the Viet Cong."

Fulbright charged that the administration had "hesitated if not obstructed communication with the enemy." He cited the National Liberation Front's apparent rejection of U.S. conditions for sending representatives to the United Nations.

Nixon said, reviewing Civil Rights progress in the past 10 years, is "a decade of preparing people to walk through those doors" which have been opened.

Price Boost Expected to Hit Appliances

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Consumers can expect a 3 to 4 per cent price increase soon on refrigerators, washers, dryers, television sets and even toys, a manufacturing executive said Friday.

The price boosts result from the latest round of price increases by major steel producers which take effect Dec. 15.

The price increases were on cold rolled sheet, hot rolled sheet, galvanized and aluminum-coated sheet, all used in a wide variety of consumer products. The boosts range from $4 to $5 a ton.

"The increases in the price of steel will be reflected principally in those consumer items which are made of pre-painted and laminated and other processed steel," another manufacturing executive said.

JACK VALOON, executive vice president of Enamel Products & Plating Co., McKeesport, Pa., said, "We can look for the effect there (household items) rather than on cars."

"The proportion of this type of steel sheet in an automobile, is comparatively small in comparison to the total weight of the car," Valoon said.

Enamel Products & Plating Co. has taken no price action itself as yet, but expects to pass the increase along to its customers who make products ranging from ash trays to windows and doors.

They in turn will probably escalate the increase, Valoon added, so that a $10 increase in the cost of the metal in a car will result in a $50 hike in the price of the car itself.

"I can't get away with it," he said. "I'm an intermediate processor."

LBJ's Top Brass Lauds U.S. Labor

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Johnson's top brass heaped more praise Friday on the nation's politically powerful labor movement and, in return, won ringing applause for Johnson's policies of war and peace.

"Peace is being built brick by brick," said Secretary of State Dean Rusk in telling the AFL-CIO convention that the fighting in Vietnam is vital to avert a wider war in Asia and the rest of the world.

"President Johnson's all out effort to end poverty and disease and ignorance and discrimination has produced intense controversy," said Secretary John W. Gardner of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"You have vigorous and hard-hitting allies in every good thing President Johnson has been trying to accomplish," Gardner said.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark spoke to the labor leaders about curbing the nation's rising crime problem, and presidential assistant Betty Furness praised their efforts to protect consumers from shoddy products.

Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, lauded labor's support of Johnson anti-poverty programs and presented AFL-CIO President George Meany a plaque made by youths at a Job Corps center in Clearfield, Utah.

Rusk made the biggest hit before the leaders of the 14-million member labor federation in telling them the AFL-CIO had "a very distinguished record indeed" of backing Johnson on Vietnam and other foreign policy.

VALOON FEELS the trend will be general, except among manufacturers who are committed to their customers for a long period on items which go into mail order company catalogs. On these items, prices will hold until the next (consumer) contract is negotiated.

Rockwell Manufacturing Co., sees little impact on its product line from the latest steel price hike except on items with bases or cabinets using sheet steel.

Westinghouse Electric Corp., and General Electric, the two giants in the electrical appliance industry, adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

A GE spokesman admitted that the steel price increases would have some effect on the firm's operations.

"But it's too early to say how much of an effect," he said. "It's too early to make a decision."

A WESTINGTON spokesman said the company was studying what impact the price boosts may have on its consumer products.

The auto industry was silent on whether it would pass some of the costs to its customers. Traditionally, the auto industry has not raised the price of cars during the middle of the model year. Increased costs are usually accounted for with higher prices when the next model year begins.

Despite appeals from the White House to hold the line on prices, major producers quickly fell into line when United States Steel Corp., No. 1 producer, triggered the price hike last week.

PLAINCLOTHES policemen grapple with war protester in New York, where more than 140 demonstrators were arrested Friday. Draft protests also broke out in Detroit and in New Haven, Conn., where 30 were jailed. The New York demonstration turned into a riot as protesters clashed with angry onlookers. As the mob moved uptown into Rockefeller Center, police grabbed demonstrators and loaded them into vans. The center was packed with children there to view the giant Christmas tree and with ice skaters. Other demonstrators were arrested downtown.

side streets around the White House closed off for security today—some areas as early as 6 a.m.

The White House was adorned with Christmas garlands and evergreens, with red and white flowers to match the bridal dresses.

The white-carpeted, white altar, with glittering vermilion silver gilt candleabra and a gold cross centered in a backdrop of greenery, was in place, flanked by tall, fluted white columns and set between portraits of George and Martha Washington.

The cost of the wedding and the honeymoon to follow was estimated at about $62,000 by Women's Wear Daily, a New York fashion publication. The White House refused to say anything about costs—except that the father of the bride, the President, is footing the bill, whatever it is.

"Bushels of mail," still uncounted, wished the young couple well. Gifts, in undisclosed numbers valued at undisclosed thousands of dollars, continued to arrive.

The bride's gown, which the White House sought to keep secret until she walked down the aisle, was declared by designer Geoffrey Beene to be a long, simple A-line silk, with touches of embroidery at the hemline, neckline and cuffs. Along with the seven bridesmaids ruby red velvet gowns, it waited in the historic Lincoln bedroom.

Beene, 40-year-old Louisiana-born, Paris-trained designer, planned to come from his New York headquarters Saturday to be on hand to check out the wedding gown and the bridesmaids' gowns.

He said he would stay until the bridal couple leave on their honeymoon—another secret—to be sure all the fashion details are okay.

Taking over the coiffures of the feminine contingent, including Mrs. Johnson, was a favorite Washington hairdresser, French-born Jean Louis.

ALL OF THE bridal party gathered in the second floor Yellow Oval room on Friday afternoon, where the Rev. Canon Gerald McAllister offered communion before the wedding dress rehearsal.

The minister, curly-haired 44-year-old canon of the Episcopal Diocese of West Texas, who serves on Sundays at tiny St. Barbara's Episcopal Church near the LBJ ranch, took up residence in the White House for the wedding.

The President will put the right hand of his daughter into that of Rev. Canon McAllister Saturday, symbolizing a father committing his daughter into God's hand. Then Canon McAllister places Lynda's hand in Robb's, symbolizing she is passing to his care and protection. Concluding his role, the President steps back to stand beside his wife, amid the 800 guests for the 12-minute ceremony.

Lynda and Chuck will take their vows, exchange gold rings and promise to love, cherish, comfort, honor and keep each other in sickness and in health, and forsaking all others "til death us do part."

The select 500 guests include the Supreme Court, Cabinet, relatives and friends.

Russia Building Ships to Carry Helicopters

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Phil G. Goulding, the Pentagon's chief press information officer, said Friday the Soviet Union is building two naval vessels designed to carry probably 30 to 35 helicopters.

It was the first official confirmation the Soviets have made an initial move toward acquiring a carrier-type capability.

Goulding, assistant Secretary of Defense for public affairs, said one chopper-carrying Soviet ship was launched in 1955 and is now on a shakedown cruise in the Black Sea.

"A sister ship has also been launched and is now in a Russian port being fitted out prior to sea trial," he said. Goulding described both vessels as nearly 600 feet long with displacements of 23,000 to 25,000 tons.

Soviet Missiles in Hanoi Big Success, Says Pravda

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist party newspaper Pravda said Friday that Soviet-made missiles have worked so well against U.S. planes that North Vietnam has installed more of them.

Even the Pentagon has admitted that stepped-up installation of such missiles in North Vietnam accounted for a "considerable portion of the planes which have been shot down," Pravda said.

The newspaper quoted extensively from what it said was an interview with Lt. Cmdr. John Sydney McCain, son of Adm. John S. McCain Jr.

Pravda quoted McCain as saying Soviet rockets could hit targets with "pinpoint accuracy" and that "during our last flight, our fighting group composed of 25 aircraft lost three machines." McCain was shot down Oct. 26 over Hanoi.

Mansfield Rips Administration on Viet Cong Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States declared Friday that it supported the idea of Viet Cong representatives at the United Nations on invitation and on official business, but opposed their coming "merely to mount a propaganda campaign."

This statement of administration policy was issued by the State Department to explain Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg's handling of inquiries from the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front, about the possibility of sending emissaries to New York.

Goldberg said Thursday his reply was that the U.S. was willing to grant visas for official business at the United Nations. No formal U.N. invitation to the NLF was extended, however, and the Viet Cong let the matter drop.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said the administration's handling of the Viet Cong approach was "a sorry spectacle." In a Senate speech, he said the matter could have been resolved simply by bringing the Vietnam question formally before the U.N. Security Council.

THEN, HE SAID, the NLF or any other party could be invited to appear and discuss Vietnam, and the U.S. clearly would grant visas for that purpose.

Instead, said Mansfield, "the matter was dropped. We now witness once again a sorry spectacle of who said what, who did what, who accepted or who refused in the corridors backstage at the United Nations."

At the same time, the U.S. publicly reassured the South Vietnamese government Friday that the Johnson administration would not shift its position on American dealings with the Viet Cong without consulting Saigon.

The State Department issued a policy declaration apparently designed to calm worries of the Saigon regime. It reiterated the administration's unwillingness to engage directly in peace talks with the Viet Cong, but coupled this with a veiled effort to nudge Saigon into expanding its own political contacts with the Viet Cong.

BOOK REVIEWS

Only Good Ever Written About Gen. Robert E. Lee

ROBERT E. LEE. By Margaret Sanborn. Lippincott, $8.95.

History has been exceedingly kind to Marse Robert. I know of no other mortal about whom so much good has been written... especially no other American... except maybe George Washington, and I think much about him is legend. Lee was truly a child of destiny. And, there exist written records of about everything he said or did from the time he was born. The son of the illustrious Revolutionary War hero Gen. Henry (Light Horse Harry) Lee and the husband of Martha Washington's granddaughter, he had the historians hovering over him from the start... and he didn't disappoint them.

This book, "Robert E. Lee, the Complete Man," is a companion volume to Mrs. Sanborn's "Robert E. Lee, A Portrait," and covers the last 10 years of Lee's life, when he led the Confederate forces and, after the war, served as president of Washington College (which became Washington and Lee University).

MRS. SANBORN'S intention in both books is to reveal the man behind the myth and to express Lee's human qualities, which other biographers have ignored or distorted. This is not a military biography, inasmuch as the author does not try to cover the overall actions of the Army of Northern Virginia.

Lee's thoughts, his feelings and reactions are presented. Lee is presented as he is revealed by his own words and those of his family, his friends and his associates. Voluminous research is evident.

For the first time in almost a century we have a fresh account of Lee's last days, death and funeral. Lee's daughter, Mildred, was with her father when he died, and her recollections, taken from her journal, are published by Mrs. Sanborn for the first time.

MRS. SANBORN'S character study further eulogizes the unique personality whose devotion to duty was total. As a West Pointer, Lee was completely dedicated to his studies and department, at the same time being greatly admired by officers and students alike.

He received no demerits and stood second in his graduating class. Lee was the favorite of Gen. Winfield Scott in the Mexican War, planned most of Scott's actions. When secession came, Scott was chief of the Army and he said "Lee is worth 50,000 men." Lincoln offered Lee command of the United States Army, an offer declined because Lee said he could be no part of an army that was about to invade his Virginia home.

His military prowess is high legendary. He is close to being the foremost tactician. He was universally admired, feared and respected by opposing generals. To his own men he was a god.

Such was the man Mrs. Sanborn writes of. One would think there would be an end to material on Lee... that some day authors would have to give up on him. Mrs. Sanborn's splendid work disproves this. The book is beautifully printed and illustrated. — Bill Shelton

Last Year of Foreign Aid? Hosmer Thinks Maybe So

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

This may be the last year for America's foreign aid program, Congressman Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, speculated Friday in a talk before the Downtown Lions Club in the Lafayette Hotel.

Foreign aid has been successively cut back until it is at its lowest point since 1948, Hosmer said, "and it's just about on its way out. This may be the last year."

In an aside to about a score of high-ranking Navy guests of the Lions Club, Hosmer suggested that perhaps people in uniform may be better prepared for a successful end to the Vietnam war than retiring Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, "and other Whiz Kid types."

According to the "let's get out, crawl away on our bellies" element, said Hosmer, would destroy the United States as the greatest power in history. No longer would any of our commitments have any credibility, he said, and "every alliance would crumble immediately."

Of those last alliances, loss of NATO would be most important. For two decades it has kept Europe on the free world side; "without it Europe, for the most part, would be in the Communist empire."

Vietnam, Hosmer said, is not an idle operation, "but an operation in which the fate and future of the United States is as deeply involved, as much on the line, as ever in our history."

On antiballistic missile defense, Hosmer said the main defect of relying solely on our retaliatory power as a deterrent is that the enemy would rely on that fact and thus have the advantage of choosing their own time for a surprise attack and being able to "crank up every rocket to maximum efficiency and reliability."

Hosmer was critical of the Supreme Court—"these fellows who are disarming us in the war on crime." The Bill of Rights, he contended, was never intended to "allow stabbing the country in the back like some people are now doing; we've got to get this situation corrected."

The congressman, looking at the economy, said that unless we get our domestic affairs in order the depreciation of the American dollar may accelerate to the point of touching off a run on our gold reserves.

In the two and a half weeks since devaluation of the British pound, our $13 billion in gold has been reduced by a half billion and we require $10 billion as a backup for our own currency. Thus, he said, we have $2.5 billion to pay off a potential $30 billion run by overseas holders of paper dollars.

If one country decides to make a call on our gold, he said, it would be like a run on a bank "and it will be a blizzard all the way around the world if it happens."

Laws Urged to Curb Spread of Hippies' VD

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A special advisory committee Friday called for laws to help stem the spread of venereal and other diseases among California hippies.

The Governor's Advisory Committee on Children and Youth urged legislation to permit doctors to treat minors for such diseases, a growing problem in hippie colonies, without prior parental consent.

Committee member Ralph B. Herzog, a Beverly Hills attorney, said many doctors are reluctant to treat the youths without such approval for fear of malpractice suits.

The young hippies, in turn, don't want their parents to know what they've contracted and don't seek permission, he said.

The committee didn't

USC, UCLA Threaten Row Over Coroner Appointment

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—The USC and UCLA medical schools Friday threatened to sever their relationship with the Los Angeles coroner's office if Dr. Thomas Noguchi is named the county's new chief medical examiner.

Representatives from the medical schools said they would withdraw resident students receiving training at the coroner's office unless an "outstanding" successor is named to replace Dr. Theodore J. Curphey, who retired Oct. 30.

Dr. Lewis T. Bullock, chairman of the County Medical Association's Medical Examiner Committee, told a news conference the acceptability of Dr. Curphey's replacement as a professor of forensic pathology by the medical schools is "an absolute requirement for the office."

Dr. Noguchi, one of several assistant medical examiners on the coroner's staff, was one of three pathologists certified by the position by a special Civil Service oral examining board.

The other two, from out of state, withdrew their names from the list when

Highway Toll Under 1966's

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Highway deaths rose in November, but there's still a good chance fewer people will die on California roads in 1967 than perished in 1966, the highway patrol reported Friday.

It said November deaths were 448, a rise of 24 from last year.

However, through last month 4,349 persons were killed, compared with 4,378 in the same period last year.

Linesman Killed by Voltage

A 26-year-old Southern California Edison Co. linesman was electrocuted Friday while working in an underground conduit in Orange County, the coroner's office said.

Dead on arrival at St. Jude's Hospital, Fullerton, shortly after 3 p.m. was Cloro Banning, of 1606 W. Flower St., Fullerton.

Officials said Banning was stretching wire in the conduit on Van Buren Avenue north of Norris St., Yorba Linda, when the wire accidentally hit a high-voltage conductor.

The Hour at Last; Queen Mary Docking

By DAVID SHAW

The Queen Mary — her birth delayed by the Depression, her adolescence disrupted by the war, her retirement as a warship — will dock in Long Beach at noon today to a star-spangled welcome.

The 81,237-ton luxury liner was to have stopped off San Diego by 5 o'clock this morning to pick up U.S. Public Health officials for a routine inspection.

Health inspectors from Terminal Island will board the ship before she comes through Queen's Gate this morning to complete the inspection and interview the ship's captain and surgeon.

Federal officials said the inspection "is the same we give every ship coming into the U.S. from a foreign port."

The inspection "is in no way connected with charges the ship is infested with rats and cockroaches," said Kenneth Morgan, chief inspector on Terminal Island.

The Queen will first be visible at 7:30 a.m., off Newport Beach, and will remain in sight for shoreline viewers along Seal Beach, Long Beach and San Pedro until she docks at Pier E.

about noon for customs clearance and disembarkation of passengers.

City Manager John Mansell, who — with an estimated 500,000 other people, 5,000 small craft and 500 airplanes — will be on hand to greet the first lady of the seas, said he hopes crewmen aboard the ship will "tell the world what the last cruise was like."

"We don't have to apologize one bit for this cruise," he said. "It's been a tremendous success for the city and the passengers, and I'm sure that's what they'll say when they get off here."

Mansell said he was "sick and tired" of charges that conditions were bad on the ship.

WIRE SERVICE reports Thursday said Cunard had warned Long Beach against carrying passengers on the retirement cruise and that Mansell "conceded" Cunard had "advised us we would have difficulty."

Mansell said Cunard had issued the warning, "but not because of conditions for passengers."

"They said we would have fuel and water problems. We took care of those. They said we couldn't set the cruise up in less than a year. We did it in six weeks. They said we couldn't get 300 passengers. We got 1,200."

"If Cunard was so worried about the welfare of the passengers, why did they provide us with the name and address of every passenger who ever sailed on the Queen Mary?" he asked.

THE QUEEN, launched in 1934 and used as an Allied troop carrier during World War II, left Southampton Oct. 31 for her 39 day final cruise around Cape Horn to Long Beach.

Her last days at sea were sparked by a gala last-night party Friday and the discovery of a stowaway Thursday.

The stowaway, Jane Mitchell of Big Sur, came aboard in Acapulco, the last stop. She was suffering from dysentery, and wanted to return home after a three-month vacation in Mexico.

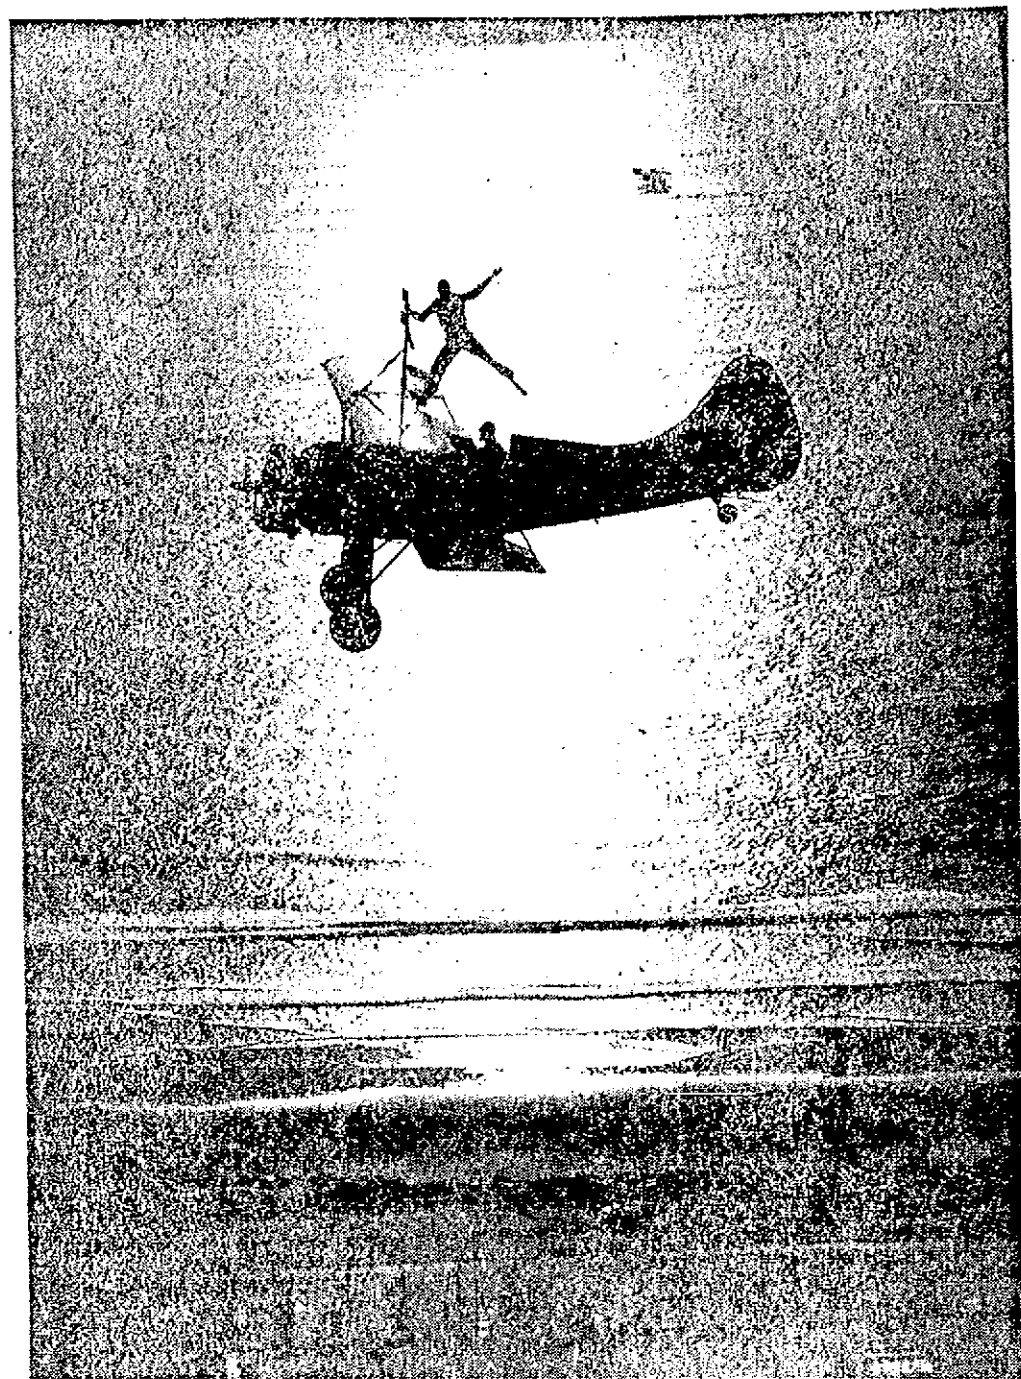

She was taken to the ship's hospital, and five entertainers who helped smuggle her aboard were quarantined. Two crewmen who came into contact with her were also quarantined.

Health officials said they do not anticipate quarantine on other passengers, and expect, instead, to clear the ship quickly so the 1,200 passengers can go home, the 600 crewmen can fly back to England and the massive ship can be converted to a maritime museum and hotel-convention center . . . a jewel in the crown of the Long Beach shoreline.

Norwalk Soldier Killed in Vietnam

A Norwalk Army man has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department announced Friday.

He was Spec. 4 Jerry Paiz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paiz, 12816 Zeus Ave.

MAN, IT'S A TRIP!

Students Fly Up in Air

It's one trip they don't forget.

Eyes aglaze, they tell you there's nothing like it.

It's not LSD or STP that Garden Grove's Bolsa Grande High School students are talking about. It's a new stunt-flying class that finds them tripping across the sky strapped to the top of an airplane.

Although not part of the school's aviation program, the stunt flying is a spinoff.

"It just happened," says Tom Rose, head of the school's program, with a shrug of his shoulders.

Rose who began the aviation course—first in any Orange County high school—this September is a professional stunt flyer in his free time with the Barnstormer Air Shows of California. He works with John Kazian, former circus trapeze artist and stunt flyer.

"A couple of the kids saw us working on our stunts," says the big, goateed, instructor, "liked what they saw, and just wanted to try it."

"It's completely apart from the school," he adds, "remember that."

Since students broke into the act, Meadowlark Airport in Huntington Beach has been transformed into a teen-age gathering point weekends and after school for young flying enthusiasts.

The girls are not to be outdone by the male students either.

"They're brave all right," laughs Rose, "to the point of being fearless like Sue—he points to a slender blonde in an orange jumpsuit walking his way—"

"she becomes a part of the airplane when she's on top of it. The boys sometimes try to fight, to overpower it, not her."

Rose is speaking of Sue Soren, 17, of Westminster who admits flying outside the airplane "is like nothing else."

"You feel very free," she says pensively. "You just look around and see."

She pauses and chuckles.

"It's really very funny to see people on the ground with their mouths open just looking up at you."

"YOU COULD SAY I WAS scared of being scared," volunteers Benny Reynaga, 17, of Westminster, who is standing nearby.

For parents, however, it is a different story.

"My dad thought I wouldn't be able to breathe up there, and my mom thought I was going to fall off," Sue said.

Kazian, the father of a 4-year-old girl who he says will be ready to ride the wing herself next week, compares it to "climbing a ladder and fixing a light bulb."

"Sure," he adds, "there's a minimum amount of risk. It's a matter of a man being in a strange environment, 1,500 feet above ground doing 80 miles an hour, but I tell the kids it's not a game of chicken."

"If something doesn't feel right they are to stop the stunt and get back into the ship."

'Queen' Flower-Bombed by New Douglas Jetliner

By MALCOLM EPLEY

We blossom-bombed the Queen Mary Friday morning in a history-flavored salute as the big ship steamed majestically along the coast of Baja California on the penultimate day of the farewell voyage.

With Vice Mayor Robert Crow tossing the first handful, thousands of fresh California flowers were jettisoned over the Mary from the tail of a Long Beach-built DC9.

Hundreds of passengers were on deck as the plane made three photographic passes followed by the flower drop from about 400 feet above the great ship's red stacks.

THIS WELCOMING gesture re-enacted the greeting given the British ship on its maiden voyage to New York City June 1, 1936.

On that date, famed flier Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker commanded a flight of three DC-3 transports which cascaded flowers on the Queen 100 miles outside New York harbor.

Friday morning's salute took place after the twin-jet series 40 DC9, with Douglas Chief Pilot A.G. (Heimie) Heimerdinger at the controls, intercepted the Queen exactly on schedule at latitude 26 degrees, 15 min. north, longitude 114 degrees, 02 min. west.

It was about 500 nautical miles from the ship's final home port of Long Beach, where a spectacular welcome is slated today.

Acting for the city, Crow officiated at the flower drop, while Mayor Ed Wade waited on the deck of the Mary. Thousands of red and white carnations were dumped into a special chute mounted in the tail of the DC9 outside the pressurized cabin.

The blossom bombardiers aimed well. Flowers floated down on the decks, but, because of a stiff breeze, others landed in the water on the port side. After a final wing-wagging gesture, the DC9 headed homeward.

IT WAS A THRILL, for Crow, this writer and the handful of Douglas staffers aboard when the Queen was sighted. The plane was at 30,000 feet, and the great ship was first seen through a break in the clouds, trailing its wide white wake.

Heimerdinger brought the DC9 down for the low level passes. Nearby a Jet Commander, with photographic equipment aboard, recorded on film the meeting of the veteran of the sea and the prototype plane of Douglas' newest jet-liner series.

As the party turned for home, there came a radio message from the Douglas plant back in Long Beach. "How are you flower-children doing up there?" it asked.

"I've been called worse," Crow quipped.

Mission at the ship accomplished, the Douglas people conducted an elaborate series of tests on the DC9 before it put down at Long Beach.

Facts, Figures on Queen's Arrival

Date: Today.

Approach Route: Queen Mary will pass close to shore off Newport Beach at 7:30 a.m., will pass the east end of Long Beach breakwater in Seal Beach at 8:30 a.m., will proceed along Long Beach-Los Angeles breakwater past the city of Long Beach and past Los Angeles Harbor before executing 180-degree turn just below Point Fermin at foot of San Pedro. She will then return to the Queen's Gate entrance to the Long Beach Harbor about 10 a.m.

Docking Time: Noon at Pier E.

Disembarkation of Passengers: Starts at 2 p.m., lasting until at least 4 p.m. for clearance by 70 U.S. Customs agents in a special 100x300-foot tent erected on Pier E.

Admittance to Pier E: No spectators or traffic will be allowed Saturday or at any time until Queen Mary is completely remodeled, on or about Jan. 1, 1969. (Only exceptions are press and persons meeting arriving passengers. They must display bright orange "Q" windshield stickers on automobiles — one per passenger family.)

Tours on Ship: No one allowed onboard until remodeling is completed.

Parking Areas: Piers A, F and J. No charge.

Restricted Areas: No spectators or automobiles will be allowed on Piers B or C. Pedestrians only — no automobiles — will be allowed on Pier D.

Pontoon Bridge: Closed to water traffic from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Restricted Water Areas: Ships and boats will not be allowed in area extending one mile seaward to Long Beach entrance buoy and main fairway inside breakwater, extending to Pier F. will be closed 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saturday. As the Queen Mary passes through this area, it will be opened astern of her.

Public Transportation: Taxi cabs, limousines and buses will be available for disembarking passengers. Twenty Long Beach Transportation Co. buses will shuttle sightseers from Pine Avenue, along Ocean Boulevard and from parking lots south of Ocean Boulevard, between Magnolia Avenue and Los Angeles River Channel to vantage point: on Pier D and Pierpoint Landing. Round trip will cost 50 cents.

Rest Rooms: Temporary facilities will be provided in areas of heaviest spectator traffic.

First Aid: Facilities will be available in fire stations on Pier E and Pier J.

American Stock Exchange

WEEK'S TRANSACTIONS

NEW YORK (AP) — American Stock Exchange trading for the week:

[illegible]

Friday's Quotations

[illegible]

Week's Wall Street Trend

soared to near-record levels this week as the market posted its fifth straight weekly advance.

Wall Street seemed to be rolling up its sleeves and flexing its muscles for what brokers call the "traditional year-end rally." The market, though working higher every week, has itself been running away with itself.

On average, the market has moved up sedately, taking ample time to correct itself. Some of the more favored issues, however, have done better than the market as a whole.

The heavy trading, some times turbulent, was the impressive phenomenon.

Volume was 59,832,772 shares compared with 51,100,620 the previous week. It was the greatest turnover since the record 60.8 million shares traded in week ended last Aug.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 8.69 to 887.25. This was only moderate gain.

The Dow industrials gladdened the hearts of chart followers and other technicians on Wednesday when they finally managed to crunch through the tough area of overhead resistance between 885 and 890. Theoretically, this signaled a further advance to the equally tough 900 line. But the advance petered out, some thought temporarily.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week rose 2.1 to 317.2.

Of 1,639 issues traded, 657 fell and 876 rose.

The week was noteworthy because of records—"breadth of market"—total number of issues traded, were broken on Monday with 1,512 and again Tuesday, with 1,523.

Obviously, the list was being churned up, and many new favorites seemed in the process of being brought to the fore, hopefully for a good rise in 1961, or for the short term, between now and New Year's day.

Some of the oldest favorites were among the performers, however. Outstanding among them was IBM which made a series of new highs and ended the week with a gain of 23 1/2

CLOSING TONIGHT

Hilarious Dances Feature Can Can

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

The most professional moment in "Can Can," the Lakewood Philharmonic Association's holiday show, is the Apache Dance in which Pepper Clyde, Terry Johnson, Lonnie Rhodes, and Ken Upton tear up "La Blanchisserie" and each other, with screaming hilarity.

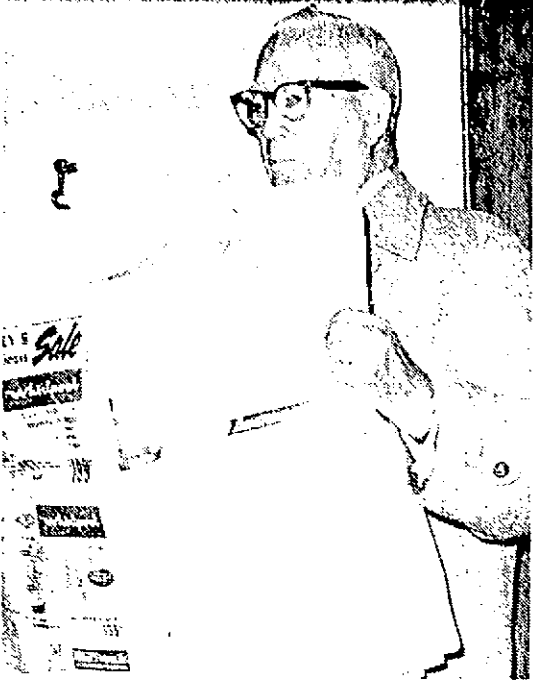

Almost as successful in the performing is the "Garden of Eden" scene. Here Miss Clyde, clad within the law but giving the titillating illusion of near-nudity, cavorts with (costumed) chipmunks, bears, rabbits, penguins, and a snake, in a fun-filled and tastefully suggestive orgy.

The rest of the evening—the show closes tonight after three performances in the Municipal Auditorium—is pleasant, despite an excess of technical mishaps and slow changes on opening night, but frankly nonprofessional.

Director Ron Hogue moves his forces with the aplomb we have often admired; this time around, however, those forces, in timing and perception, lack the strength some of Hogue's other casts have boasted.

In delivering lines and getting laughs, he gets the best results from Cris Timmons' dancers, particularly the smashing attractive Miss Clyde, and the greatly talented trio of (onstage) bohemians listed above: Terry Johnson, Lonnie Rhodes, and Ken Upton. Also blonde Margie Lee, who, wearing another name, contributed so nicely to "West Side Story" a

FIRST TO BOARD THE QUEEN

George Haight, 728 Cedar Ave., had to stand in line two hours, but he can make a claim on the Queen Mary's last voyage. He says he was first passenger to board the giant liner from Southampton. Haight got off the train from London first and moved directly to an immigration line, but was told it would be "some time before passengers started boarding." Undaunted, Haight stood first in line and stayed until signal came.

MILLER TRAGEDY REVIVED

A Grim View from the Bridge

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Drama Critic

Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge" definitely emerges in a new Long Beach City College production as a latter-day Greek tragedy set in modern America.

There is in the air a sense of inevitable tragedy from the first scene, in which two illegal Italian immigrants arrive in Brooklyn, through the climactically violent destruction of two men.

High production standards are apparent in this Shashin Desai-directed work, although I would make one suggestion to an able cast: Work on voice projection. Perhaps it's faulty acoustics, but on occasion I found myself straining to hear.

A SUPERB SET designed by J. L. White complements both vehicle and cast. At center stage is the living room of a slum house; on either side are twisted, foggy urban alleys in which the play's brooding violence can receive its ultimate development.

Unlike most contemporary plays, "View" offers no secondary or sub-plots. Instead it marches in poetic cadence through the moral—or physical—destruction of Eddie, third-generation Italian-American, a decent, hardworking, longshoreman, and of that which he loves.

Eddie, vigorously, honestly characterized by Leo Knudson, has a "thing," a "fixation" the Freudians would call it, for a beautiful niece being reared in his home. Elaine Bankston, as the girl Catherine, the central focus of conflict, brings to the role a neat balance between adolescent pawkiness and the emerging power of womanhood.

THE BROTHERS, Marco and Rodolpho, arrive illegally to work on the waterfront. Marco, powerfully done by Bruce Simmonds, needs the money for his family so far away; his handsome blond little brother, Kenny McKee, seeks only to improve his life.

Love flowers between Catherine and Rodolpho, hate festers in Eddie, and a peculiarly Millerian stage technique is utilized to home in on ensuing disintegration. This is a combination "Greek chorus" and Thornton Wilderish "stage manager," wrapped in one man, Alfieri the attorney, Jim Cole, whose periodic gloomy predictions do materialize.

CAROL AKRONE is Eddie's frustrated but loving wife, a woman who recognizing his weaknesses, remains in his camp.

year ago. The principals are enjoyable. Besides Miss Clyde, they are Yvonne Ellis, who sings "C'est Magnifique," very well, looks good in her many costumes; Ken Jones, a bright-voiced and smooth singer; Jack Bacon, an extroverted Boris; and Mike Jacobson as Hilaire Jussac.

Conducting the 24-piece orchestra—one appreciative all those strings, though the total sound was often much too generous, despite the gross overmixing of the state—was J. DeWitt Schwab.

Betty Evers coordinated the costumes; Ralph Hunt designed scenery; Larry Tower directed lighting.

Most important, the girls doing choreographer Cris Timmons' cancan must be credited, for, in large measure, they keep things moving.

They are Candy Evers, Gay Hudspeth, Gayle Hudspeth, Margie Lee, Patricia Monville, Sandy Parent, Candi Solomon, Pamela Solomon, Gloria Spurgeon, and Claudette Stevenson. And, of course, Pepper Clyde.

CONFIDENT LIVING

People Take You at Your Valuation

By NORMAN V. PEALE

Any weakness can be changed into a strength. Although this may sound incredible, it is a fact that you do not need to be pushed around indefinitely by some characteristic that is a bother to you.

How do you go about cancelling out a weak spot? First, want to. And this is hard because maybe you don't want to, but know it is important that you should. And the next step is even harder: choose to be rid of a weakness, and believe that you can. And choose to change strongly enough to make it stick. Start saying to your indecisive self: "I'm through being controlled by my weakness! I don't want to live with it any more! From now on I'm tied up and I'm going to turn this weakness into a strength!"

If I may be personal — I know this process will work for I tried it myself with an enormous inferiority complex. It was a beauty — as high as a skyscraper. And an inferiority complex is no fun. Shy, shrinking, reticent I would think glumly: "I don't amount to anything; have no brains, no ability." Presently I became aware that others were agreeing — for people unconsciously tend to take you at your own self-appraisal.

AT COLLEGE there was one course in which the professor seemed to take satanic pleasure in firing questions at a student standing before the class. When he did this to me, even though I might know the answer, my mouth got dry, tongue clove to roof of mouth, perspiration ran down my face. All in all it was a pretty miserable demonstration.

One day at his or-else invitation I visited the professor in his office. "What's the matter with you anyway?" he asked sternly. "I am aware that you know the material but why can't you deliver?" He repeated a couple of questions previously put and I answered readily enough. "Why didn't you come up with these answers in class?" he exclaimed.

"I don't know, Professor. Guess I was all tied up," I replied weakly.

"The trouble with you," he continued, "is that you are a scared rabbit. Why don't you get wise to yourself and shake loose from that inferiority complex? Act like a man, not a poor weak fish!" On which high note the interview concluded.

Angered I stomped down the hall muttering: "I'm going to resign from this university; then go back and clean up that professor!" On second thought I didn't do it, and for a practical reason: he was a huge tough man of 6 feet 2.

Instead I went out and stood miserably on the front steps of the university building. I asked myself a serious question: "Are you going to live this insipid life the rest of your life?" Right then and there I made a choice. I decided I was completely fed up with being a scared rabbit. I chose to do something about it, and well remember saying aloud: "I'm through with this inferiority complex and I don't mean maybe."

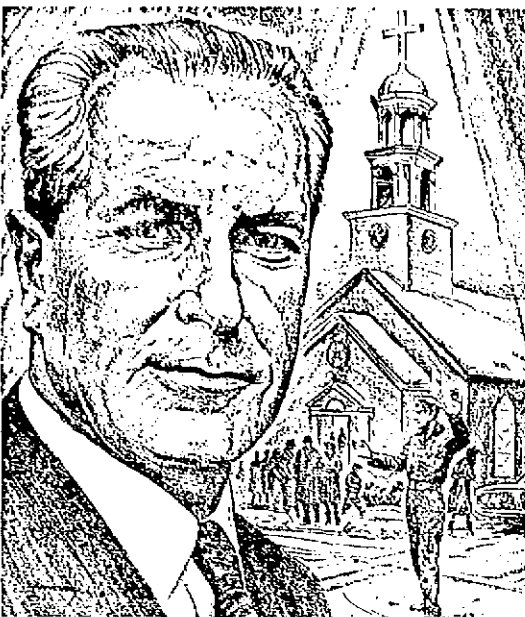

Well, I did not actually get through with it that fast. But I did discover that once you make a choice the directional finger is pointed in the way of successful overcoming. It was a long, hard road but I think I could go back to that professor's class and today speak out when called upon. That type of fear and negativism went down the drain.

I DON'T cite this personal experience to give the impression that I'm any great example of the power of choice. Far from it. But that happened to be my problem, and it is the problem of a lot of people. Sovereign choice is a power given you by the Creator. And the fact is that when you choose to change you are on the way to changing.

A pathetic thing about many of us is indecisiveness about changing a weakness into a strength. Even though you may be unhappy with a weak point in your personality it seems easier to go along with it rather than to undertake a campaign of change. But actually that isn't so. It gets harder the longer you put up with it. Keep it long enough and it will take full charge of you.

I knew a man who would fly off at the slightest provocation and to use his words, "tell anyone where to go." But this got him into a lot of trouble. So he "just up and decided to stop flying off." So basic was his choice that he has never let go of himself, even one time, since he made that decision.

THE POWER OF FAITH

By WOODIE ISHMAEL, AP Newsfeatures

ONE WHO SERVES ON CHRISTMAS

Christmas Eve is one night of the year unlike all others in the Christian world. When we are with our families either at home or at church, we tend to forget that there are many dedicated people who work Christmas Eve so the rest of us can enjoy the holy night.

James Mancusi, Chief of Police at Mamaroneck, N.Y., is one of those dedicated persons. He has spent many a Christmas in his 25 years as a law officer, either on the beat, at the desk, or handling traffic for those at church.

Chief Mancusi says, "Seeing the families in their homes and out gives a sense of pride in the job because we know they wouldn't be as safe as they are if we weren't there." Also, Chief Mancusi reports there is less crime on the night before Christmas. "I can't remember any crimes of violence or burglary in our town on a Christmas Eve," he adds. "The peace on earth and good will toward men theme seems to get through to people — even the most hardened individual."

Seminaries Agree on Historic Merger

The first legal step in the establishment of a Rochester Center for Theological Studies was revealed this week with the announcement that two major Protestant seminaries — one Episcopal, the other an ecumenical school founded by Baptists — will formally affiliate, effective September, 1983. The move, believed to be the first that affiliates an Episcopal seminary with a divinity school outside the denomination, unites Bexley Hall, the Episcopal Divinity School of Kenyon College (Gambier, Ohio) and Colgate Rochester Divinity School (Rochester, New York).

The Bexley Hall students, faculty, library, and financial resources will move to the Rochester campus before the school term opens next fall. The proposed Rochester Center for Theological Studies, designed to promote excellence in theological education, will possibly include St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Seminary. In addition, conversations on affiliation are underway with a number of other Protestant divinity schools. Colgate Rochester Divinity School and the University of Rochester entered into formal affiliation last June.

Commenting on the affiliation between Bexley Hall and Colgate Rochester, President Gene E. Bartlett of Colgate Rochester said: "Two institutions, each with a history of a century and a half, have come together to face a new and exciting future that will bring better leadership to the church. This development gives us an opportunity to do something about strengthening the education of men and women for the ministry. It is a historic day for us all."

In commenting on the possibility of the future affiliation of St. Bernard's Seminary with the Theological Center, The Most Reverend Fulton J. Sheen, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Rochester, said: "Colgate Rochester and Bexley Hall have much to give St. Bernard's and we trust that St. Bernard's in turn will have much to give them. In those things we share in common, there will be unity; in those things in which we differ, there will be dialogue and charity; in those things in which there is difference with the spirit of the world there will be Presence and Witnessing."

Reader Criticizes Rabbi's Response on Middle East

(ED NOTE: On Nov. 11, we ran a brief digest of a sermon by Dr. John Nichols Booth of The Unitarian Church, entitled "The Moral Case for the Arabs." Last week we published a reply to Dr. Booth by Rabbi Yosef Miller of Temple Beth Shalom.)

Dear Religion Editor:

As a Jew, I was rather appalled by Rabbi Miller's letter replying to the Unitarian minister's statement of the Arab's moral case. One can agree that Israel had little choice but to defend herself from threatened annihilation in June, and yet be saddened by her attitude toward refugees, past and present.

Rabbi Miller says Jordan brought the new wave of Arab refugees on herself, as if that is moral justification for Israel taking the land of innocent people and refusing to let most of them come back. On the West Bank.

Speaking of the original Palestine refugees, Rabbi Miller says "Israel is ready to work out compensation for the Arabs as part of a treaty of peace." By refusing to consider their obligation to the refugees except in the framework of a peace settlement with the surrounding Arab states, they link together two questions which have no moral connection. The return of the refugees, or reasonable compensation, is an obligation Israel owed not to the surrounding Arab states but to the Palestinian Arabs themselves, who were the inhabitants of the land.

It is this running sore, this real grievance of displaced Arabs, which will keep the situation inflamed and will not allow voices of reason to start prevailing. It is a blot on Israel's otherwise splendid achievements, and no emotional defense of Israel can hide it.

Finally, it is sad to see a religious leader play so jingoistically on the word

"communism" instead of discussing the rights and wrongs of a situation. Four times Rabbi Miller brought in this demagogic, plus saying "Dr. Booth's line is precisely the line of the Soviet Union." How sad for a Jewish leader, of all people, to invoke McCarthyism instead of taking a penitent, humanitarian view of the tragic situation. Arabs are God's children too, Rabbi Miller. Yes, Israel's people deserve the right to exist in peace. But let us apply the same objective standards to the actions of her leaders as we do to other governments, including our own. Let's get behind justice for the refugees as the first meaningful step toward a lasting solution — which is what Israel's people need.

Yours Truly,
H.G., Long Beach

Install Pastor in Norwalk

Rev. Joseph H. Robertson will be officially installed Sunday at 5 p.m. as the third pastor to serve First Presbyterian Church of Norwalk, 11345 Rosecrans Ave. The church is 17 years old.

Rev. Robertson comes from Newhall, where he served for the past nine years.

Dr. Herman Sweet, former field director for the Presbytery Board of Christian Education, will speak. A reception will follow.

Somewhere amidst all of the thrill of getting ready for Christmas, I find myself wishing that the world was as excited about getting ready for His Second Coming as it is about getting ready to celebrate His first coming.

If the world of commerce would stand as much money to carry the Gospel of His first coming to the untold millions who do not know of the event nor of its significance as it spent in advertising, decorations, and merchandising, what could we do in one year with the Great Commission.

When Christmas comes 98% of the world will have made preparations for it by noon Christmas Eve. But when Christ comes again, even 50% of the church will not be ready for him, and less than 20% of the living population will have made preparation for his coming.

Ought we not to be more excited about His future coming than we are about December 25th?

Have you considered this as you prepare your mission gift?

RELIGIOUS FORUM WILL TACKLE 2 HOT ISSUES

A religious forum on two major issues — race relations and Vietnam — will be held Thursday, 7:30 p.m. in The Congregational Church, 3212 E. Eighth St.

Rev. Harvey Williams, president of the Long Beach Community Improvement League, will speak on "The Negro's Solution to the Social Revolution." The center, a non-profit volunteer organization, coordinates such projects as Head Start, Projects Tutor, Friend, Youth Training, Teen Post, etc.

Mrs. Veronica Sissons, an organizer of Citizens for Peace in Long Beach, will discuss "A Woman's Solution to the Vietnam War."

She has traveled with visiting American women to both North and South Vietnam.

Rev. Vernon L. Booker, pastor, will preside over the open forum which follows the presentations. He invites the public.

of love. Another thing, they do a lot of criticizing of others, and you can see them not living up to what they profess."

THE QUESTION came up of the prestige of the ministry, which some say isn't what it used to be.

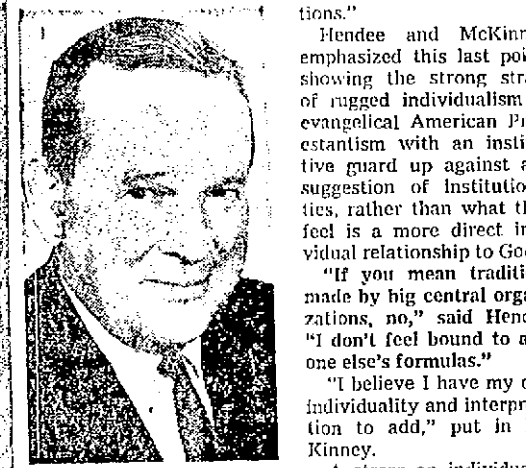

"I think people tend to judge others by education," said Steiner. "The minister once was the best educated man in town, or one of the best. Not any more. That's a false judgment."

On the other hand, he believes some ministers may be at fault. "Ministers can raise the prestige by the way they minister, concentrating on getting out and making Christ known."

S.F.-Area Youth Leader to Lakewood

Lakewood Village Community Church has welcomed its new youth minister, Rev. Paul Sabin. His extensive experiences with young people include being Wesley Foundation Director at the UC-Berkeley, working with the Glide Urban Center in San Francisco. He was recipient of the Elizabeth Hay Bechtel Traveling Fellowship from Pacific School of Religion, permitting him to travel throughout the Near and Middle East.

Rev. Sabin, who was formerly pastor of a Methodist Church in Buffalo, N.Y., now resides in Long Beach with his wife and two children.

MEN'S LEADER

Dr. Al Doerring, director of American Lutheran Church Men for the national denomination, will speak Sunday at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services in Christ Lutheran Church, 6500 Stearns Ave. A layman with a long background as high school teacher and coach, he is a member of the advisory board of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and helps direct the Scandinavian Gospel teams. His work also involves him with alcoholics, the wealthy, families that are breaking up, and rejected youth. He is touring Southern California conducting Bible-living workshops for men.

'CAFETERIA APPROACH' SEEN GROWING IN ALL FAITHS

Accepting Some Doctrines, Nixing Others

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

It used to be that if you knew a man's church affiliation, you could make reasonably confident deductions about his religious beliefs.

No more. Today there is a growing tendency on the part of church members to pick and choose among their denominations' official doctrines, accepting some and silently rejecting others.

This cafeteria approach to creeds is encountered not only in liberal Protestant bodies, but also among fundamentalist Protestants and even in the Roman Catholic Church.

Catholic teaching categorically rejects the idea that individuals have the "right of private judgment" in deciding what they find credible. To wilfully reject any established doctrine is, in the official Catholic view, to repudiate the divine authority of the church itself.

Even so, the perceptive Catholic writer John Leo, a former editor of Commonweal now on the staff of the New York Times, reports that "many Roman Catholics, particularly intellectuals, no longer believe in the virgin birth"—a doctrine especially cherished by official Catholics.

This reporter can corroborate that observation. And he would add that the virgin birth is not the only doctrine which is being tunneled out by mental reservation. Nor is the tuning out confined to avant-garde Catholics. It also shows up in conversations with Catholic businessmen, housewives, students and other laymen who are faithful in Mass attendance and apparently devoted to the church.

Catholic bishops, including Pope Paul, are keenly aware of this trend. Some of them are deeply troubled about it, and are inclined to blame it on the spirit of freedom and change unleashed by the Vatican Council.

But the movement away from docile acceptance of doctrine "on authority" began long before the Vatican Council, and it is by no means confined to Catholics.

Liberal Protestants display a pronounced disposition to take seriously what Jesus taught about the application of love to human relationships here and now, while ignoring nearly everything he said (which was considerable) about a future life.

With conservative Protestants, it's the other way around. They are apt to insist on literal acceptance of miracle stories and the prophecies of "last things" found in the Bible. But when confronted with some of the radical things Jesus said about human brotherhood and sharing wealth, their reaction often is that those verses of scripture of course need interpretation.

Protestant as well as Catholic leaders may pine for the day when laymen would embrace a belief solely on the ground that it was taught by the church or supported by Biblical texts. But in the present climate of opinion, no religious body can expect an enthusiastic response to a naked appeal to authority.

The Episcopal Church's Special Committee on Theological Freedom warned last month that "the church can command the respect of modern man only if it has the confidence, courage and honesty to test its faith in the free market place of ideas."

"We believe that the historic Christian faith can stand that test, and are not afraid to have it subjected to the most searching scrutiny. It concluded that the church today "not only should tolerate but actively encourage free and vigorous theological debate."

TV Church Special on Arab Refugees

The plight of Arab refugees in Lebanon, Jordan, Jerusalem, Gaza and church relief work among them will be featured on a national hour long CBS-TV special Sunday, Dec. 17, it was announced Friday by the National Council of Churches' Broadcasting and Film Commission.

Called "A Presence in the Wilderness: Christians and Refugees," the program is described by Don Roper, chairman of the BFC television committee and consultant in development of the program, as a "report from the Near East on the human crisis from the point of view of the Arab refugees, both Christian and Moslem."

Buildings Shared in Maryland 'Is'
COLUMBIA, Md. — (UP) A unique, ecumenical use of ownership between Catholics and Protestants for religious facilities in this planned community has begun.

Local church officials said never before, to their knowledge has the Catholic Church shared ownership of religious buildings with other faiths. The Jewish faith also is expected to become a party to the ownership of the facilities.

Youth for Christ Founder Here for Revival

Rev. Watson Argue, who along with Billy Graham and several other young men formed the Youth for Christ movement in 1944, will conduct a one-day revival Sunday at Glad Tidings Assembly of God, 1900 South St.

He will speak at 11 a.m. on "Around the World With the Gospel," telling of some of the 60 countries he has campaigned in, and at 7 p.m. on "If You Miss the Second Coming of Christ and Are Left Behind." Preceding the evening service, he will show his color film "Heathen Darkness" showing weird practices in many lands.

Argue served as vice president of Youth for Christ International and started the organization in Western Canada, South America and the West Indies. Last year in Nigeria, he was credited with 12,000 conversions.

Celtics, 76ers Triumph

Combined News Services

The Boston Celtics ran away from the Baltimore Bullets behind the hot-shooting of John Havlicek in the last two periods Friday night to win their NBA game, 123-108.

Larry Costello, the National Basketball Assn.'s oldest player at 36, scored eight points in the last three minutes to help the Philadelphia 76ers hold off a New York Knickerbockers' rally and post a 117-109 victory.

At St. Louis, Bill Bridges scored 23 points and Zelmo Beatty added 22 to pace the St. Louis Hawks to a 101-95 victory over the slumping Cincinnati Royals.

John Block scored 36 points as San Diego made it two straight over San Francisco, 137-107. Bob Boozer pushed in a tip-in with one second left to give Chicago a 115-114 victory over Seattle.

TELE-VUES Big Magazines Finally Find TV

By TERRY VERNON

There's no question that the sudden discovery of television as a major factor in the life of the U.S. by some national general circulation magazines will have an effect for the better on TV.

The particular area getting considerable national publicity is the practice of handling advertisements during sports events. This is not new. Newspaper columnists occasionally have pointed out and criticized times-out called, not because a team wants one, but for commercials.

The Saturday Review was, I believe, the first national publication to point out that one agency for an automobile account banned the use of a team name (Mustang) because it is the name of a competing automobile.

SIMILAR REPORTS have one beer company refusing to allow photography of a play if the play is made against an advertising billboard of a competing company.

I can see the point of the company footing the bill — why the heck should it advertise a competitor? I can see the point, I said — I don't agree with it.

One thing agencies and company executives who are in charge of TV advertising seem to lack is a large view of the situation. They are supposedly in the business of creating sales for their products. Practices such as this do not make for better relations with the public — especially when national publicity is given the practice.

THIS SORT OF criticism of TV comes under the heading of keeping the industry honest, but to most sports fans — and to the vastly increased sports audience TV and radio has built — TV and radio do a job nothing else can do as well.

For example, I became a Lakers basketball fan through the airing of their games, first on radio where Chick Hearn's word pictures attracted me — even though I suspected he sometimes made the games more interesting than they were — then on TV where I found he really was doing justice to the excitement of the game.

Hearn is a pretty astute guy, so he doesn't expect people to swallow everything he says.
